University Unitarian Church
Social Justice Steering Committee
2010-2011

The role of the Social Justice Steering Committee is to help empower and support the social justice mission of the University Unitarian Church congregation, and to support and advise UUC's Social Justice Coordinator. Does that sound interesting to you? We are looking for people who:

- Believe passionately in the power of social justice work within a church community
- Get satisfaction from working with others to nurture ideas and bring dreams to fruition
- Enjoy looking at things from a “big picture” perspective

Please see the committee description for details, and then answer the following questions, limiting your answers to two pages total. Please return your answers to Jennifer Bright at the church office or at jenniferb@uuchurch.org.

1. Why are you interested in joining the Social Justice Steering Committee? What do you hope to contribute to the church's social justice work by participating on the committee?
2. Please describe how your background or skills are a good match for those described in the committee description.
3. Please briefly describe any other committees you've served on at UUC, or leadership roles you've taken on.
4. Are there any limits or constraints on your ability to fulfill the duties described in the committee description?
